He is a native of the Everglades and has been a member of the church since 1934. He is a native of the Everglades and has been a member of the church since 1934.

Glades County farmers are planning on an expanded bean crop, but it is not going to make the difference in the bean crop. The bean crop is expected to be a good one, but it is not going to make the difference in the bean crop.

In comparison of costs for growing celery, lettuce and other crops in the Glades area, Florida shows quite a lower rate. This fact, along with some other factors, will make the Glades area a better place to grow celery and other crops.

It was noted that for the first time since the present war has been installed, that every officer was at his post.

GOLDEN RAMS

RG Farmer or Greer, C. L. Burke, RG Miller or Newman, RT Wane, RS Hooker or Leavitt, RB Williams, LH Nelsu or Markham, RH Bevels, FB A. Leathers.

The lineup as listed above probably isn't quite the same as the one that will be fielded tonight, for obvious reasons.

New Smyrna's roster is not available at this writing.

Happy Lawrence, Smyrna's mentor, is expected to see the balance of the single wing formation in his drives against the Belle Glade forward wall, which has two strong anchors in Howard Hill and Travis Poole.

The Rams' Coach "Doug" Leavitt, probably will send his backs surging from "split T" formations. He used the same plans last year and pinned down a six won, one tied and three lost record. Even so, the Rams have nothing to become even the slightest bit overconfident about. They are long on size and can scrap, but short on reserves.

Fortunately they have squeaked by the present practice season with but a minimum of minor injuries. C. W. Crosby is the only lad that is out for an indefinite period, owing to an eye operation.

Most of this week's practice has been devoted to correcting of timing and line back plays, and rugged calisthenic exercises.

Long scrimmages were held Tuesday night under lights and again on Wednesday afternoon, and the Rams displayed smart (football in line work and passer and interference running).

Williams, Hooker, Nelsu, and Schlechter brightened things for the unpaid attendance of 44.

Assistant Coach Mayor adheres to the tried but true idea of being a little on the pessimistic side. He HOPES for a good season.

Baldwin Sustain Fire Loss Of Their Property.

The James Baldwins sustained quite a loss of personal effects at the Prison Farm fire of Saturday night, when the combined garage and laundry storehouse was consumed by fire. The loss consisted of canned goods, clothing, lawn furniture and other stored articles. Work clothing of some of the prisoners, kept in the laundry, were also consumed.

Onions Could Be The Next New Crop For The Everglades

By G. R. Townsend

In the past the lack of suitable varieties has generally discouraged any attempts to grow onions in southern Florida. These varieties which would grow, such as Crystal Wax, Yellow Bermuda, and Red creole, were undesirable because the plants have the habit of forming multiple bulbs which causes them to split into two or more segments. The varieties of "hot onions" grown in the North will not form bulbs under our conditions.

Most varieties of onions are very sensitive to the length of daylight to which they are exposed. The varieties grown in the North mature under day lengths longer than fourteen hours. When planted in southern Florida as a winter crop they receive from eleven to thirteen and a half hours of daylight and will not form bulbs.

During the last ten years much progress has been made in developing onions that will form bulbs under short day conditions. This work began in New Mexico where selections were made out of a Spanish onion known as Grano or Bobosa.

The selection was found to be capable of bulbing during the shorter days, and was developed as a variety under the name Early Grano. Interests in Texas who did not find the Early Grano exactly suited to their needs made further selections and came up with a very uniform new onion which is slightly smaller than Early Grano and has no tendency to split. This variety has been named the Texas Grano. Both of these onions are straw colored, thin-necked, globe onions having a top diameter somewhat larger than the bottom. A white skinned onion of the same general type has been developed as the White Grano. The size of the bulbs depends somewhat on cultural conditions and time of planting. Bulbs up to three and a half inches in diameter can be produced in each of the three Grano varieties. All of these onions are rather mild in flavor and can be used for slicing or cooking.

One other new variety has recently been introduced by the United States Department of Agriculture. This also is a variety adapted to growing during the shorter days. It is named the Excel. The onion is straw colored and about the size of the Grano varieties, but it is quite flat. This also is a mild onion which is good for slicing or cooking.

Onions have been grown in the Perry-Morse Seed Co. trials in this vicinity for the last three years. The writer is convinced that these new varieties of onions offer a real opportunity for Glades growers to add one more crop to the long list of vegetables which they now produce and ship. On the basis of recent trials, it appears that a production of 500 fifty pound sacks per acre would be expected, whereas under the best conditions, it should be possible to produce from 800 to 1000 sacks per acre. The crop in the Glades matures late April and could be put on the market from two to four weeks ahead of the Texas crop. The quality of the Glades crop is above average.

of the onions produced here is so high that there should be no fear of Texas competition even if not harvested ahead of their crop. When properly cured these onions will keep through the summer, and could be marketed on Florida markets over a long period.

Texas Grano would rank as the variety of first choice because of its uniformity for size, shape and freedom from splits. Early Grano is perhaps the nearest producer of the four varieties, but is not as uniform as Texas Grano.

Excel is an excellent flat onion. It is more subject to damage than the Grano varieties, and sometimes does not yield as well. The White Grano is very much like the Early Grano except for being slightly smaller in size. The White Grano does not keep in storage as well as the other varieties.

The date of planting onions is important because of the effect of length of day on the bulbing of the onion. Successful plantings have been made from November to early January. Earlier plantings are not advisable since the bulbs tend to have thicker necks and poorer shaped when planted too early and allowed to grow too long. The only disadvantage of the late plantings is that the size of the bulb is cut down and this of course reduces yield. The size of the plant when bulbing starts controls the size of the bulb, since all plantings will begin to bulb as the day length exceeds thirteen hours in March. This being so, the early plantings in general make the largest onions.

The trials which have been made have been on the custard apple muck, and it is believed that this type of muck is better suited to onions than the deeper seawater peats. The surface soil should be moist to provide good conditions for germination and early growth. This should be supplied by irrigation if rainfall is not adequate. After the onions are well rooted they will grow well without much rainfall or irrigation, although an irrigation just ahead of bulbing is helpful if the season has been dry. The soil should be quite dry during the bulbing period and at harvest.

The application of 500 to 1000 pounds of an 0-8-12 fertilizer before the seed is drilled is recommended. The usual minor element supplements should be included with the fertilizer. A side application of 4-5-3 should be made just before the onions begin to bulb. This is particularly advisable if the first application amounted to only 500 pounds.

Onions should be sown in a well prepared soil. Since weed control is important it is helpful to have the soil freshly prepared on the day the onions are to be sown. The seed should be drilled in rows about two feet apart. While close spacing is possible, it is not practical for reason of weed control. The seed should be drilled through a number 10 hole in a Planter Jr. drill and covered to a depth of one-half to three-quarters inch. From three to four pounds of seed will be needed for an acre if germination is above average.

the plants may be too thick and should be thinned to 2 or 3 inches in the row. The plants which are removed can be transplanted to another field. Transplanted onions will be as good as seeded onions if they are not set too deep. Deep setting causes the bulbs to be longer and less desirable in shape.

Onions do not suffer from diseases or insects that cannot be controlled by spraying. Cutworms, of course, are a nuisance and must be controlled by baiting. The crop is not subject to root knot and for this reason is ideal for planting on land infested with the root knot nematode to the extent that it is not safe for other crops. Thrips are very common on onions but can be controlled with the newer insecticides. A fungus blight attacks the tips of the leaves as they approach maturity and may cause the premature death of the entire plant. The Excel variety is more susceptible to this blight than are the other varieties. However, the disease can be controlled on all varieties of onions if they are regularly dusted with a copper fungicide.

Harvesting of the onions can begin as soon as the tops have died down so that the necks are no longer green. The bulbs should be pulled in the early morning and laid out to dry for a few hours but should not be exposed to strong sunlight as they will sunburn easily. The tops should be cut off with a sharp knife leaving about an inch and a half of stem on the bulb. This can be done most readily as the onions are picked up. The bulbs cure nicely if stored in hangars in an open shed. The outer skins will begin to peel in about a week and can then be in a suitable condition for marketing.

EVERGLADES CHURCH

On Sunday morning, the Bible School and Church members were quite surprised to see a fine 350 pound locomotive engine bell stationed on a table, the gift of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway, through its local agent "Bob" Lanier, who is one of the pillars and officers of the local church. This bell came off engine "96" which had been relegated to the junk pile by the A.C.L. It was shipped here from the company's Wilmington, S. C. It had long been used as a call bell to summon workmen to their duties, but will now be used by the local congregation as an instrument to call people to religious services. During this bell the new church will be erected, funds for which have been partially secured. The Everglades congregation is most appreciative of this bell gift, and will use it as an impetus to provide the balance of the funds necessary to complete the church edifice.

On Sunday night, the congregation at the Prince Theater was addressed by Tom Watson, Jr., of the Seminole Broadcasting Company. It is not generally known, except among a circle of close friends, that Mr. Watson, Jr., is likely to prepare himself for entering the Presbyterian church ministry. Tom told the Herald writer, "Yes, I seem to have a call in that direction, but I am trying to decide in what line of work I can be of the most good to the church, and God and I are working out together to make the right and proper decision, and I suspect that God will have the final say." Tom has the education necessary, a B. I. L. I. degree from the University of Florida, and is a good preacher, but needs additional theological school training to meet church demands.

In presenting the bell to the Church, Mr. Lanier directed his remarks to Mr. P. P. Phillips, Minister, as well as to the people who are without Christ of the danger ahead of them and to call them to worship, hoping to bring them closer to our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. I now dedicate this bell under the work of God, and present it in behalf of the Atlantic Coast Line RR Co. May it serve a long and useful purpose to the work of His Kingdom."

Mr. Tom Watson, Jr., the Adult Bible Class teacher and son of former Attorney General of Florida, and Manager of Radio Station WSWF, B. 11.1 Glade, then made a short talk to the congregation stating that the Everglades Church did have no Church building and all services are being held in the Old Everglades Theatre Building. Mr. Watson stated that the idea was to build a church building under this bell and that's exactly what the Everglades congregation plan to do. Plans are now underway to start construction of their new church building this week.

Farming Operations
Well Under Way With Some Beans Above Ground

Fall farming operations in the South Bay-Bay City-Lake Harbor vegetable area are well under way. Practically all of the high land has been plowed, disced and much of it planted. Some growers have young beans under cultivation on high land around the rim of the lake in this section.

Land further from the lake in the Okeelanta area is also being prepared for fall plantings. The long fairly dry summer has left the land in excellent condition for cultivation and land which in many years ago wet to farm at this time without extensive pumping is now in prime condition for an early fall crop.

Damage to the seed beds in the recent storm was not by any means total and growers are beginning to set celery and other long term crops in the field.

BIOGRAPHY OF IVAN L. VANHORN

Like many of Belle Glade's prominent and successful citizens, Ivan L. VanHorn is a Floridian by adoption. He was born in Nebraska, but came to this area in 1914 when there was not even a road into here from either coast, boats being the only means of entry and exit—but Mr. VanHorn liked it here and stayed. He farmed and operated boats on the Lake until he became a real estate commission agent for the Standard Oil Products, established here in 1935.

Standard Oil Products sells and distributes all Standard Oil products, including gasoline, motor oils and Diesel fuels to farmers and growers in the Belle Glade-South Bay areas.

He is a member of the Methodist Church. Fraternally, he is a member of the Scottish Rite Masonic body, and is active in civic and social circles, always lending his support to worthy projects for the advancement of this area. He is a member of the Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association, and is a member of the Country Club of the Everglades.

Mrs. VanHorn was Miss Gertrude Mahry of South Florida.

OBSERVATIONS
done an honest and capable job. The commission will not fill this position until a later date, and wonderment is, who will be his successor?

The Herald congratulates the Community Methodist Church on the starting of work on the erection of its new parish plant. When completed it will be one of the finest edifices in the entire Miami district and Florida conference. With ample space and room arrangement, the church and school can go forward with an expanded program of religious work. Churches count in any community. Hopes are entertained that Bishop Ralph Short may be the speaker at the proposed Easter time dedication.

Activity on the proposed new historic lodge in Belle Glade will soon be the order of the day. The body sure will have a home of which it can be proud, as well as a place to go for all its activities. One of the new features will be a parlor lounge.

Ray Whitlock, expert angler, says if you want to get a big black bass, you must go to hunt around a bit, and find a fish that is willing with an open mouth to be fed. That's why he flung that into the water, whooper which he recently caught at Winnet Cove.

The Legislature members in special session at Tallahassee, after all the fuss in making an appropriation bill, are going to get better an education as to how such a bill is built and from what sources taxes must come, to meet the monies appropriated for state and other civic bodies. Some progressive measures, other oppose, and as a result there is shifting of opinions and voting sentiment before a final decision is agreeably reached. Hundreds of sources of new taxes have been presented, and just about as many rejected, but indications are that the melee will wind up with the adoption of some form of a sales tax measure. The lowly cigarette is having a hard time to escape the placing of an extra penny tax on the package. Smokers hope for its escape.

Will not soon again be presiding over the Municipal court as Judge. Another guest might be ventured, that Jack O. Johnson, will become City Solicitor. At least these are the recaptured whisperings heard about the city. Take them for what they are worth and await decisions.

As the present baseball season comes to an end in the big lead, its looks very much like the Yankees of New York for American League champions, and either St. Louis or Brooklyn in the National. The Champion Indians of Cleveland took an awful slump, will be lucky to finish in third place, much to the disappointment of their supporters. Notwithstanding the poor showing the Indians have already passed home attendance figures of 1948, have funning up over the two million mark. Pittsburgh in the National league has similar record, the fans turning out to see Ralph Kiner slug the pill out for home runs of which he has now collected 50 for the season. He needs 12 more to beat the long time record of Babe Ruth, the baseball immortal.

First Sergeant Jack Rashley, executive officer at the National Guard office, is most proud of a special ribbon award which has been awarded to him by the State for a 100 percent record for drill attendance for one year. Jack says he still has application blanks and room for some recruits in the ranks of Company E of the 211th Division.

The management of the Tampa Fair State Fair has offered a liberal space and $1500 to the County of Palm Beach, to make a production exhibit at that big fair. The RDB has taken up the project and will likely ramrod a deal where several million people will be able to see what we produce in this great Everglades farming and industrial section of the state. Anyone who can get a real education by visiting this state fair, but one should have at least a couple of days to make the complete trip at the big exhibition. One Belle Glade man, on his own expense, made a heavy exhibit there last year, and what did he do, just captured the sweepstakes and top awards for the finest honey in the display? Others can do likewise with a little exhibition and industry.

The State Highway Department has a big motor crane working between Belle Glade and Pahokee, removing all the tree debris from the highway.

The whipping the big Australian pine took in the recent storm can now be fully appreciated. The trees around Dead Man's Curve, especially appear thinned out and frayed. There is a growing demand that the entire section of trees along the canal should be given a despoiling and de-limbing job. Their heights and weight in storm is a dangerous hazard.

The East Beach Drainage District at Pahokee, lost so much of its equipment during the storm, and has not funds to replace it, that land owners have been called upon to approve a bond issue at a special election, so that replacement of pumps and pump house can be made.

Pardon me, readers, for this little intimate family story, which relates to my wife, when on Sunday morning at the Community Methodist Church, was given a signal honor in recognition of her long and active career in the missionary work of the Methodist Church, when she was presented a Life Membership scroll and pin denoting her service. At the age of 12 she became a member of the Mother's Jewels of the Home Missionary society of the church, at Warren, Ohio, following up in the Queen Esther's Circle, then into the adult ranks. She served as president of her society, many years as District president and later a conference member of the North-East conference. Coming to Florida she has served as president of the WSCS chapter at Zephyrhills, Pahokee, St. Cloud, and as Spiritual department secretary in the Community church in Belle Glade.

Sixty years is a long time to devote to the work of a society, to say nothing of the additional time spent in Sunday school work, choir singing, and a multitude of other church activities. I will say that this honor was highly pleasing to her, for it was a secretly coveted honor she had long desired. The "Old Judge" knows what it means to be the husband of a missionary society adit, for it has meant for him many miles of "taxi-work," long hours of patiently waiting adjournments, as well as being plugged and supplying topics for discussion.

and then the rehearsals of the talk. Yep, I am by force a believer in the value of woman's work in the church and should have a share of that pin.

All our citizens are regretful that our long time pioneer citizen, G. I. Evans, is beginning to feel the ravages of advancing age, and has been forced to cut down his personal activities. Seemed strange to hold a city election without him heading the election board. For many years "Pop" was the bridge tender of the canal bridge and occupied the tender's home at the north end of the bridge, which he incidentally purchased when it was put up for sale. His great love life has been "singing" he having possessed a beautiful Welch tone voice.

It was time for the display of a bit of black creep and the appearance of a tear in the eyes of the employees of the Herald office, on Saturday when Mrs. Florence Smith Brown, laid down her pen and bade goodbye to the position which she has so efficiently and capably held for near nine years in the office, as stenographer, book-keeper and general information bureau, for the various agencies working out of the Herald office. Florence is to go to Lake Hamilton, where she takes over a spacious home which her husband "Jack" has provided for her, and where he is employed in grove care work. Our best wishes go with her. Florence was just about the "brains" of that front office, and also aided in the back office affair in no immaterial manner, where "material" was filed, there was no use hunting, for she was sure the trouble shooter of the entire staff.

Her friends in the community were legion, and she will be greatly missed in the clubs of which she was an active and progressive member. Going to Lake Hamilton, she will be in a region of many lakes, where she and her husband, who are great fishing addicts, can enjoy that pastime to the fullest limit.

If you hear a strange voice on the phone, don't ask for Florence, but give your message to Mrs. Verda Mathewson, who is the new secretary, coming

Garage Burns At The Prison Farm

The Belle Glade fire department was called to the State Prison farm, around eight o'clock, Saturday night, to put out a garage blaze at the James Baldwin home. The Baldwin car happened to be out and in use at the time, but the balance of the garage structure, was practically demolished by the blaze. A short circuit on the electric wire system is believed to be the cause of the blaze.

News Of Negro Activities in Glades Written And Prepared By Negroes For Their Benefit

Schools, Civic Clubs And Religious Organizations To Be Thoroughly Covered

Staff Now Being Organized For Full Coverage

This paper has long considered giving the negroes of the Glades a medium of news stories about their own activities for their own consumption. During the past season we devoted space weekly to school news of the Belle Glade elementary and high schools.

We are now expanding this service to include all negro activities so that a reasonable coverage will be had.

To begin with news sources from Belle Glade and South Bay are to be used and other communities included as facilities are available until the entire Glades is included.

We have the endorsement of civic leaders, business men and public officials of the Community and County. Many public spirited negro citizens are also enthusiastic for this endeavor.

With a bit of forbearance we will give full coverage to newsworthy happenings among the negroes of the Glades.

School News Of Everglades Vocational High School
By Ceola Miller

This week's another busy week for all of the students of Everglades Vocational High School. Each week the enrollment continues to increase.

The school band, the girls' team, who is our new band instructor, the football team is progressing rapidly. It seems as if we are going to have a strong team this year, even though many of our old players graduated last June.

The seniors presented an interesting chapel program Monday. As a part of the program, they conducted a quiz contest, after which prizes were given to the winners. We are very grateful to Adolphine's Evangelical Church for their assistance in the quiz contest. Mr. J. F. King, principal, concluded the program by making a few inspiring remarks to the student body.

Everglades Vocational High School

School bells sounded at the Everglades Vocational High School on September 6, 1949, and the largest first-day enrollment in the history of the school responded. At present the enrollment is two hundred and ninety.

Unlike at most schools, the enrollment at this school is controlled by the movement of the migrant workers who follow the seasonal crops. Within the next month to six weeks the school enrollment will increase from its present number to around seven hundred students.

This year the faculty has been increased to include an instructor of band music and an instructor of physical education for girls. Thus, the school can now offer to the students of the Glades Area a well rounded curriculum.

Mr. M. Hamilton, the band instructor is a graduate of Le Moyne College, Memphis, Tenn. an experienced musician and a counselor for young men. Mrs. O. S. Bailey is a graduate of the school.

Mr. Perry is a graduate of Bluefield College, Bluefield, West Virginia. He has had ten years of coaching and teaching experience. He has produced three champion teams.

Morgan Endorses Newspaper Idea

As a leader in the activities of his race, business, civic and religious, A. Z. Morgan believes that the news properly presented to those who make it and those who read about it will stimulate further progressive and beneficial activities.

The great number of home owners among our people in the Glades is a substantial asset.

Back To School
We, the teachers and students of South Bay Elem. School are contemplating a very successful term for the year 1949-1950.

After having had a wonderful summer, we come back to the school rooms with plenty of vim and vitality.

We feel that last term was one that we could not have been a successful year if we had not had the cooperation of our patrons and friends of South Bay. We feel very grateful to them and wish to express our deepest and sincere thanks.

With their cooperation, we were able to accomplish some of the things we had planned. We wish to give special thanks to our good friends, The Willie's Store, The Bailey Brothers, Mitchell Grocery, The Roadman Furniture Store, The Bailey's Grocery, South Bay Drug Store and many other white friends for their cooperation and in helping us to make our school year possible.

Knowing that our goal has not been half reached, however, with our friends and patrons, we feel that by the end of this term, we will be able to look back and feel proud of what has been accomplished.

R. L. Jennott, Principal

set, I believe, that is overlooked in times. Interest in clubs, and associations which have for their purpose the benefit of our people as a whole has been greatly stimulated recently. There is room for more of this and your newspaper idea, I believe will be of great benefit in this.
